Debate on Gas Tax Underway

City and Country Argument Over Doing Away Tax Exemption on Farm

JEFFERSON CITY, June 28—(AP) A fight on gasoline tax exemptions tangled the Missouri Senate today as it started debate on Gov. Forrest Smith's gasoline tax increase bill.

At the end of the first hour when the Senate sat for lunch it was in the midst of a city-country argument over doing away with the present tax exemption for gasoline used on farms. The governor, however, entered the chamber just before the noon recess.

The politically explosive subject of farm tax exemptions popped up soon after the debate opened. This is how it happened:

When the House passed the bill to boost the two cent a gallon gas tax to four cents it included a section exempting from taxation all gasoline used by state or local governmental units.

A Senate committee cut out that exemption on the theory too much revenue would be lost if every school district town and other government agency could buy gasoline tax free.

Sen. Gibson Objected

Sen. Lloyd Gib (D) of Independence objected. He said no one should be exempt from the gas tax and he offered an amendment to cut out all exemptions including the present system of letting farmers use gasoline tax free in their crop production.

"If the farmers are going to be exempt, then city bus lines, taxi companies and other companies who use only the city streets should be exempt also," Gib said.

Senators from both parties jumped up to support his plan.

Sen. Doyle Barlow (D) of St. Joseph said "It is the obligation of every citizen to pay his share toward improving the road system."

He said a farmer would be more than repaid for any gas tax he pays in the immediate increase in the value of his farm when an all-weather road is built in front of his place.

Joined With Gibson

Sen. John D. Fols (R) of Kirkwood, a gasoline dealer, also supported Gibson. Fols said he knew from his own experience that many farmers use tax-free gasoline in their automobiles and trucks as well as in farm machinery.

One of the members of Governor Smith's highway advisory committee which developed the bill opposed Gibson. He was Sen. William M. Quinn (D) of Maywood. He said it was just as logical that farmers should be exempt as telephone and railroad drivers.

Most of the speakers agreed the present two cent tax has to be increased. Several said they had received no complaints from their constituents about that. But they insisted the present bill would not do the job.

Content of Bill

The bill calls for the highway commission to spend the money from one cent of the increase for low type rural roads. It would be distributed one-fourth on the basis of county area, one-fourth on the basis of population and half on the highway commission's judgment as to local needs.

All counties except St. Louis and Jackson counties would have to levy a road and bridge tax of at least 10 cents on the $100 to assess valuation to get the new state aid. The two metropolitan counties would have to levy 1 cent.

The bill includes a pledge from the highway commission to follow out the rural road building program under Missouri's constitution the legislature cannot tell the commission directly how to spend its revenue.

Action on the bill is one of the first big battles in the new session leaders hope to end next week end.

America Joins the British In Making Protest

By Thomas A. Reed

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, June 28—(UPI) The Moscow-led Cominform's campaign to subdue Yugoslavia, a year old today, has failed off officially Yugoslav press declared.

Both official news papers of the Yugoslav Tito Communist party, in a four-column editorial, one of which is called the "infamous" manifesto, suggested to this country's Cominform (Communist international) information bureau that they review the vast majority of its allies and note that none of that alliance had been achieved.

The incident was disclosed by American authorities. It came a short time after Berlin's rail workers went back to work peacefully ending a 38-day strike for which the German taxpayer will foot a bill estimated at about 20,000,000 marks ($6,000,000).

American authorities said they had joined the British in a protest concerning the power plant machinery. The protest we delivered directly to the Soviet military government headquarters.

Direct Violation

A spokesman said the Soviet action was in direct violation of the blockade lifting agreement. The power station parts were vital to Berlin which suffered through the Russian blockade for lack of electric current because of electrically powered hill.

A motion to bar talking and vote 113 to 75.

This may delay a final vote until tomorrow but Socialist Rybush (D-P) predicted an administration victory "by a substantial margin" when ever the showdown comes.

Packed Courtroom

WASHINGTON, June 28—(UPI)—Administration forces met today in an effort to shut off their debate and force a quick laydown on President Truman's "final" bill.

The measure went through on a 37-vote again with all solid Republican opposition.

Senate Votes To Turn Down College Presidency

AN OFFER to become president of Central College, Fayette, Mo., has been rejected by Dr. R. M. McVey, president of St. Louis State College since 1945.

Dr. Hawley said the offer of the Missouri school offered him his presidency in a month ago.

"While the president of Central College offered him an excellent opportunity from a professional standpoint," he said, "I feel that we could not afford to let their opportunity go off the shelf as they had in the days of the Soviet blockade."

Democrats Not Touched

Share-Work Plan Rejected

Coal Operators
Not Accept John
L. Lewis' Proposal

PITTSBURGH June 8 (AP)—A huge bloc of northern and western soft coal operators was reported Monday night to have flatly rejected John L. Lewis' share-the-work plan.

The operators wouldn't comment when the levi conference here with George H. Love, president of Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co.

However, a member of the Central Pennsylvania Coal Producers Association said the board of directors met at Altoona (Pa.) today and took the "same" action as the levi.

The member, who asked that his name not be used, explained that his position, long with the north west operators, was that if it could be violating the Sherman anti-trust act by agreeing to keep the mines open only three days a week.

Acceptance of the Lewis offer would change the UMW's traditional "no contract, no work" policies and keep the negotiator on the job if a contract wasn't signed to replace the one expiring June 30.

Lewis wanted the operators to adopt a uniform three day week while the negotiations continued.

The spokesman for the Central Pennsylvania Association which represents about 30,000,000 (IM) tons of annual coal production said he signed also was against the three-day week proposition because it will be costly." He explained mine would have to be kept in shape for around-the-clock production although they could operate only at about 50 per cent of capacity.

After the Pittsburgh conference Love who has been a leading figure in current contract bargaining left for White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. It was expected he would give the operators' formal answer to Lewis tomorrow. There were unconfirmed reports he would make some sort of a counter-offer to the bushy-browed union leader. Love's group represents about two-thirds of the U. S. soft coal production.

Bill To Relieve Doctor Shortage

JACKSON CITY, June 8 (AP)—A bill to help cure a shortage of doctors at state mental hospitals was passed by the Missouri Senate Monday. The vote sending it back to the House for acceptance of Senate changes was 23-0.

As things stand, only doctors who have been Missouri residents at least two years may be hired by state hospitals. The bill takes out the residence requirement for doctors, nurses, laboratory technicians and dieticians.

Another bill passed, 25-0, and sent back to the House is aimed at sexual perverts who molest little children. The problem is especially serious in St. Louis, sponsors said.

The bill would let a court order a mental examination for anyone charged with a sex crime. After a hearing, with or without a jury, a circuit court judge could decide whether the person should be sent to a state hospital for treatment, or whether he should be tried on criminal charges.

Add Millions For Schools

Pay Of $225,000 For Lawyers In Risk Litigation

JEFFERSON CITY, June 28—(UPI)—The House appropriations committee voted nearly $10,000,000 Monday night on the $1,500,000 cleanup appropriation bill.

The biggest increase was $8,000,000 to go to public schools for the two year period beginning July 1. The amount is in addition to the one-third general revenue traditionally allotted to Missouri's public schools.

Also added is a $225,000 item to pay three Kansas City attorneys for their legal aid to the state during the long pending insurance rate litigation. More than a hundred insurance companies paid fines totaling more than $2,000,000 after losing the court battle several years ago.

Another $500,000 fund would be set up under an amendment the committee approved despite objections of the committee chairman, Rep. Fred Ray Columbia (D) of St. Louis. The fund would provide state matching aid to schools districts for replacing buildings lost by fire or other disaster.

"They murdered me," Columbia said in reporting the committee override all his objections.

Last week an officer of the State Teachers' Association and Missouri would have to give public schools $20,000,000 the next two years in addition to one-third general revenue if it is going to bring school funds up to the national average.

One-third general revenue for the coming two fiscal years is expected in total between $60,000,000 and $70,000,000.

Rep. Elvin A. Moore (D) of Stoddard county offered the amendment to set the increase at $8,000,000 for the two year period.

The salaries for the three Kansas City attorneys, if approved by both houses and the governor, will end a long battle in and out of the courts for payment of the money. They had asked 18 per cent of the fine, but the appropriation set their fee at 10 per cent.

The three attorneys are John T. Barker, the late Michel J. Henderson and Glen C. Weatherby. Barker and Weatherby each would receive $75,000. The same amount would go to Henderson's estate.

The money would come out of the state insurance fund if there is enough there. If not, it would come from the state's general revenue fund.

Senate Approves More Judges

WASHINGTON, June 28—(UPI)—The Senate Monday approved a bill creating 36 new federal circuit and district judges.

Senator McGrath (D-R.I.) predicted President Truman will veto the measure because of a provision which he said "discriminated" against federal employees.

The provision places certain requirements on the President in selecting judges for the District of Columbia bench.

The legislation would create six additional circuit judges and 20 additional district judges.

The Senate by a vote approved amendment which would (A) create an additional temporary judgeship for the southern district of Texas; (B) make permanent the one temporary district judgeship in the northern district of Ohio, giving that district a total of four permanent judges, and (C) make permanent the two judgeships in the western district of Oklahoma. One now has a temporary basis.

The Oklahoma amendment was sponsored by Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Oklahoma).

The House recently passed an omnibus bill creating a number of judgeships. A Senate-House conference committee will have to adjust differences in the bills passed by the two branches.

Inquiry In Fatal Airplane Crash

NEOSHO, Mo., June 28—(UPI)—CAA agents from Springfield, Mo., are investigating the crash of a plane near here Monday in which Ellery Shatto Womack, 34, of Hot Springs, Ark. (319 Prospect) was instantly killed.

A state trooper at the scene reported that residents of the area told him the plane had been circling for some time and that its engine was sputtering as if it were running out of gas.

Papers in the pilot's possession indicated he had been to town and had spent Sunday night in St. Joseph, Mo. The state patrol said the two-place Grumman cabin plane is owned by Stover Aeroplane of Hot Springs.

Corley Thompson, Neosho undertaker and Newton county coroner, said Womack died from multiple fractures. His body was thrown from the twisted wreckage of the plane, which appeared to roll end over end after hitting the ground, ambulance attendants reported.

The crash occurred at Boulder City, Mo., about 15 miles south of here and near Camp Crowder, Mo.

Now King and Sheppard are debating over who caught it and who gets it.

Cardinals Missed Chance For Top Spot

Hank Sauer Poled a 2-Run Homer to Give Margin to Cubs

By The Associated Press

A victory would have put them in a tie with Brooklyn for first place, but the St. Louis Cardinals passed up an opportunity and lost 6-4 to the Chicago Cubs last night.

The 13,788 spectators saw one of the longest home runs hit at Sportsman's park in years. Hank Sauer belted one of Gerry Staley's pitches over the concession stand at the rear of the left field beyond the fans and across Sullivan Avenue.

The tremendous homer came in the fifth inning with a man on and provided Chicago with the winning margin. Errors by Eddie Kazak, Nipsey Jones and Stan Musial contributed toward the four other Cub runs. Chicago booted the ball for four miscues in the loosely-played contest.

Fred Martin in First Appearance

Fred Martin, the second Mexican league jumper reinstated with the Cardinals, made his first appearance. Redbird uniform players for two innings. He didn't let a man reach first. Johnny Schmitz was the winner, but needed help from Walt Dubiel in the seventh.

The ten Cardinal hits included a double and two singles by Musial, a double and single by Enos Slaughter, and a pair of singles by Red Schoendienst.

The St. Louis game was the only contest scheduled yesterday in the major leagues.

The Browns finally won a game—but it doesn't count. They pushed across an unearned run in the ninth inning to defeat the class-B Harrisburg (Pa.) Senators 6-5 in an exhibition at Harrisburg.

Word was received that Brownie pitcher Dick Starr was operated on for appendicitis several days ago, and probably will be out of action for another month.

Lineups for All Star Game In Brooklyn

Fans Pick Williams As Most Popular Star; Robinson 2nd

Written for NEA Service

Yankee's Old Reliable

An outfielder should take his position about the center of the general area where the man at bat usually hits the ball.

He plays percentage, does not over-shift.

Usually you move toward the batter's strength, but with place-hitters it is smart to play in the middle of your territory.

Most batters try to hit behind the runner, which means into right field. You know who are hit-and-run batters, and who aren't.

If the right fielder plays deep, then you can reason that the batter is a hit-and-run man, and has power.

Otherwise you will notice he will cheat and come way in, especially when playing against a right-hand batter.

At all times it is necessary to be aware of the situation.

The fan too, should know the score, how many men on base, the count, the batter, and why he can anticipate the play.

In the ninth inning, for instance, with a two-run lead and a man on second base, the right fielder will permit the run to score on a single to him. The throw will be made to second base.

Tie Up Trying Run

The run scoring doesn't tie the score. Always keep the tying run farther from home plate.

On hits, the outfielder will ordinarily throw to the base in front of the runner, and keep the ball low in case of a cut-off by an infielder.

That is why throws usually come in one hop instead of an all the fly, not because the outfielder's arm is poor. The right fielder may attempt to throw and a slow man trying for that base on a short hop, is apt to interfere with the second baseman or shortstop, can size up the play.

Ted Williams is the most popular star with fans giving him 1,084,304 votes. Joe Robbie is next with 1,022,588.

Sport Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, June 28.—(P)—An aftermath of the recent pro tennis championship is that Forest Hills is scored on the pros and vice versa. The customers stayed away in droves from the Bobby Riggs-Don Budge final and neither player, who split $600 in the final, nor the West Side Tennis club, which absorbs the losses, are happy about it. The pros feel that a change of scenery (maybe) and a wholesome influx of new talent (certainly) would improve the situation, but judging by results from Wimbledon there's not much good new talent in sight. Come to think of it, tennis is like about the same situation as other professional sports, except football, when it comes to producing new stars... .
